As you leaf through our yearbook,
 Dear Reader, today
 And look on our faces
 So radiant and gay,
 We hope it will bring you mem'ries so dear
 That will brighten and linger
 O'er many a year.
 Each page that is turned
 Each article read
 May bring back the youth you once thought was dead.
 And while reminiscing in pleasures and joys
 There's something we ask of you,
 We girls and boys.
 Please pray for us
 Though you may not know us here
 For our future vocations cause us anxiety and fear.
 Yes, we're entering a world
 Of strife and mistrust
 But with guidance and God's help,
 Conquer we must!

In honor of this Marian Year
we, the Class of 1954,
with loving reverence and humble respect, dedicate this volume of

✻ STELLA MARIS ✻

✻ to ✻

OUR BLESSED LADY

imploing her help on our future undertakings, and promising her the love and devotion which we owe her as the—#—
Mother of God.

Dedication

To our beloved Pastor,
REVEREND A. CHAREST, S.M.,
we wish to express our deep appreciation for the personal interest
he has taken in the CLASS OF 1954.

In the many years to come,
his timely counsel and kindly admonitions,
so deeply written in our hearts,
will continue to spur us on to the higher things of life.

Lorsque nous arrivons à la fin de notre vie scolaire, nos coeurs se remplissent de divers sentiments. D'abord nous éprouvons une douce satisfaction à la pensée que l'accomplissement de nos devoirs, parfois ardu, nous mérite, en ce beau jour, la réception de notre diplôme, qui, dans la suite, servira comme preuve d'un travail bien fait.

Cependant, ce n'est pas sans un certain resserrement de coeur que nous voyons clore les pages de notre vie d'étudiants. Les beaux jours passés dans l'enceinte de notre chère école, les heures de douce quiétude vécues sous le regard du Crucifix et de notre douce Mère, la Vierge Immaculée, les connaissances acquises, grâce au labeur incessant et au dévouement inlassable de nos bonnes maitresses, les Religieuses de la Sainte-Union des Sacrés-Coeurs - tout nous porte à regretter le charme de ce contact journalier avec ceux et celles que nous devons bientôt quitter.

Oui, il nous faut quitter ce séjour de paix et de bonheur, et, malgré nous, nous disperser dans la vie. C'est à ce moment que nous réalisons l'importance du rôle que nous devons remplir comme jeunes gens et jeunes filles catholiques dans un monde païen, sensuel, et matérialiste. Jamais nous n'oublierons que nous sommes les enfants du bon Dieu, qu'au baptême nous lui avons promis fidélité, et que notre but final n'est pas d'acquérir des richesses, de la renommée, de la gloire - mais la vie éternelle. Oui, voilà notre destinée - notre route bien tracée ici-bas: servir le bon Dieu, l'aimer, le faire aimer, et, ainsi mériter la douce récompense de jouir de la vision béatifique pendant toute l'éternité.

La reconnaissance qui, en ce moment solennel, surgit en nos coeurs s'adresse d'abord aux bons Pères de la Paroisse, et tout particulièrement au dévoué Père Charest. Jamais nous n'oublierons ses maintes bontés à notre égard, et c'est avec un coeur débordant de gratitude que nous lui adressons un bien cordial merci. Oui, merci, Révérend Père, pour les sages conseils que vous nous avez prodigués si libéralement dans le cours de notre dernière année passée à l'Ecole Notre Dame de Pitié. Puisse Dieu verser d'abondantes bénédictions sur votre saint et laborieux ministère.

Nos remerciements s'étendent aussi à nos bonnes Religieuses qui se sont dépensées sans réserve à nous instruire, en nous faisant partager le fruit de leur culture et de leur travail, et en nous édifiant par leur patience et leur bonté. Notre gratitude s'exprime donc dans nos pressantes supplications afin que le Dieu de toute largesse bénisse celles qui ont contribué à nous faire bénéficier d'un diplôme que nous emportons si fièrement, et surtout celles qui nous ont instruit dans les principes solides de notre Foi, qui feront notre force et notre soutien dans les combats de la vie.

Toujours nous aurons un culte de reconnaissance envers notre chère École Secondaire, témoin de nos peines, de nos joies, de nos efforts, et surtout de notre filiale appréciation envers notre Alma Mater.

PRINCIPAL'S OFFICE

Evidently these seniors are well pleased over the message received.
Would it be that school is dismissed
a few minutes earlier?

Father checking over the monthly Holy Name News letter with Robert, Jules, and Charles.

Robert receiving an admission slip from Mother Superior, while Jeannette patiently awaits her turn to ask for a special permission.

OUR PASTOR, REVEREND A. CHAREST

Father Charest, our Pastor, distributing monthly report cards. Judging from Philip's look, Father must be satisfied with the marks.

IN THE MAKING

Jeannette, Literary Editor, and her assistants -- Natalie, Rita, and Helen discussing the various write-ups.

Above:- Selecting suitable pictures for the "Stella Maris" seems quite an absorbing task for Phyllis, our Photographic Editor.

Below:- Jeannette and Robert writing "thank you" cards to advertisers.

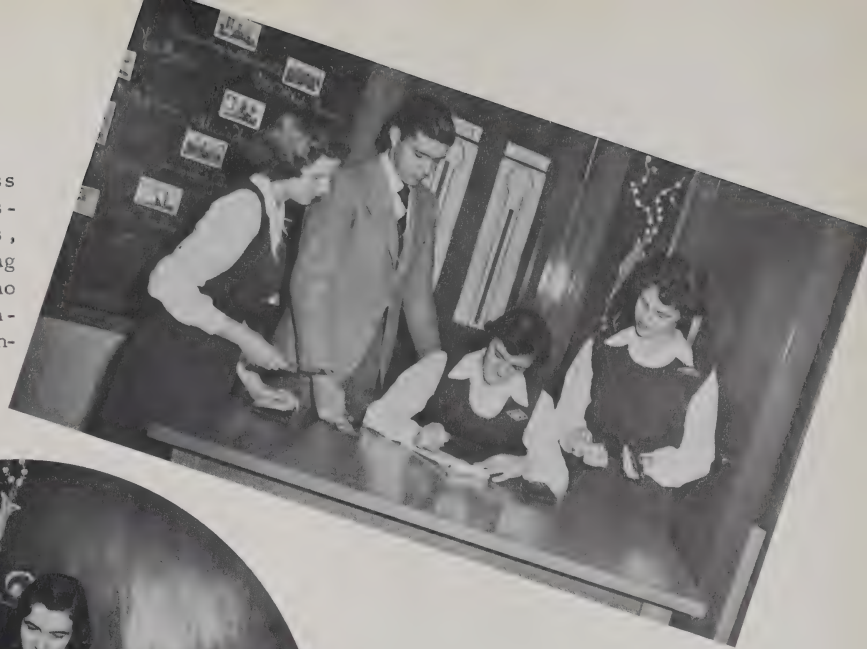

John and Georgette examining various copies for ideas. Elaine, Mary T., Doris, and Joan typing the material for the yearbook.

Marie Benoit, Business Manager, and her assistants -- Virginia, Charles, and Lorraine were among the energetic seniors who more than doubled their individuals quotas in the campaign for ads.

YEARBOOK STAFF

Our Editor-in-Chief, Jeannette Robichaud, planning the layouts with Robert Goulet, Associate-Editor.

Group of seniors swooping down upon the business world for the 1954 yearbook. Both large and small firms were canvassed and each ad was gratefully accepted.

THE PURITY OF MARY

O Purest Lily, O Whitest Rose,
Look down upon us in our need;
Thy heart was ever stainless--
Never guilty of sinful deed.

Through all thy wondrous childhood,
Thy thoughts were directed above,
No other thing possessed thy heart
Save God's Eternal Love.

Through all thy youth, thy one desire
Was to live for God alone--
To give thyself entirely,
To be His very own.

The privilege would thou have forsaken
Of being Mother of God above,
Had it defiled the sacred Virginity
That bound thee to His Love.

But through a miracle of God's grace
Afforded to no other;
A wondrous title was on thee bestowed
The title of Virgin Mother.

Jeannette Robichaud

POEMS IN HONOR OF OUR BLESSED MOTHER

MARY, OUR MOTHER

Lady most beautiful, Lady most fair, Watch over your children with love and care;
When troubles come and things go wrong,
Lady most lovely, help us along.

If on the wrong path we should stray one day,
Virgin most faithful, guide us along the way.
For with your protection we are sure to be Safe with you in heaven for all eternity.

Elaine Canniff

HELPER OF SOULS

If times are hard, and you feel blue,
Think of the others who are worrying too;
Then think of Mary, your Mother Divine,
And pray to her often so things will be fine.

She'll always help you to do the right thing,
So why not invoke her, and graces she'll bring.
Beseech the Lord for favors in her name,
And He'll reply "surely" and give you the same.

Robert Goulet

IMAGE OF OUR LADY

Here as I kneel, seeking thy help, in meditation,
A gleaming ray attracts my eye to thine exquisite form.
What is the incomparable beauty which gives me
such consolation,
This immaculate image so like the dew in the early morn?

Mother most beautiful, never forsake me,
Protect and shield thy child in times of woe,
I beg of thee to harken my entreaty,
For thou alone art able to do so.

Now, as the time has come to bid adieu,
Let me once again glance upon thy loveliness.
This alone will carry me through and through,
For nowhere can be found such sublime holiness.

Marie Benoit

MOTHER BELOVED

We tread on her heart and cause her pain,
But still she stands above,
With outstretched arms and smiling face,
And a heart so full of love.

The raindrops we see are tears from her eyes,
And she's sad for you and me,
Because we, her sheep, have gone astray
And left her alone to be.

Her mantle is formed from the blue of the sky,
Her eyes from the glow of a star,
Her lips from the red of the moon above,
And her smile shows a glory afar.

Doris Theriault

MARY, MY MOTHER

Christ, dying on the cross, gave me
His own Blessed Mother, mine to be;
What greatest gift from heaven above
Could come to me than Mary's love?
Ave Maria!

Oh, Mother of mine and of mankind,
Your wishes are those of your Son Divine;
Watch over me until my life is o'er
And lead me then to the heavenly shore.
Ave Maria!

Philip Dodge

STELLA MARIS

Sparkle forever, O Silvery Light,
That dazzles my faltering steps through the night;
Ever show me the way, Glowing Candle on high;
Let me know you are there by winking your eye.
Let me gaze on your shimmering, glimmering
gown,
As white as snow and as soft as down.

Moonbeam so pure and so blindingly white,
As to make one's soul thrill with the greatest delight,
Reach in your heart; our lonely cry hear
In your mercy and kindness ever be near,
So that when death comes we may live in your sphere.

Annette St. Pierre

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The bell climaxing four fruitful years of academic work for the Class of '54 has tolled its last; its tone has reached the peak of a task begun in our freshman days--days of uncertainty and strife.

As we look back upon the challenges we have met, we realize that success could never have been possible, had it not been for the ardent zeal and ceaseless patience of our self-sacrificing and understanding teachers. Their unsurpassable diligence coupled with kindly admonitions inspired us with lofty ideals, and spurred us on to high and noble aspirations. They drilled us to the utmost in our studies and wisely guided us over the rough paths of our scholastic career. Never once did they allow us to forget the real purpose of man's journey on earth. Their constant reminders of spiritual necessities were the principles involved in the formation of our characters.

Devoted Teachers, we who have known the inspiration of your example, the benefit of your kindness, and the superabundance of your intellect, feel totally powerless and inadequate to express our gratitude to you. So in all confidence we turn to Mary, Mother of God and Our Mother, and we beg of her to plead our cause with Jesus, her Divine Son. For only He can bless you as we would wish you to be blessed--only He can reward you for all the good you have done us.

May our future lives be a living tribute to you, Beloved Teachers, who so earnestly and so constantly tried to mold our souls and our intellects "like unto Christ."

Mary is My Mother.

I must go to her for help,

For Courage, for Guidance,

For all Grace.

CLASS HISTORY

By Annette St. Pierre
Marie Benoit

It was September and the time had come to enter high school, our long anticipated dream.

With faltering steps we ascended those famed stairs, walked through that formidable door, and at that moment became part of the student body of N.D.P. High.

We all, no doubt, would have landed in the hospital with ulcers from worrying, if the upperclassmen hadn't shown us where we were supposed to go, when, and with what.

Although we had received their warm welcome and were getting used to the routine, the seniors, nonetheless, were planning our final test, "Initiation."

After spending many "sleepless nights" thinking about the "horrors" which were in store for us, we finally decided to be brave and to "stick it out." But, to our surprise, nothing but fun was had by all.

Busy days followed, filled with prayer, studies, and sports. Extracurricular activities rounded out our schedule such as the Halloween and Christmas parties, and school dances with music by the "University Trio."

Then came our Whist Party which proved to be a great success, and which showed our businesslike ability. This gave us more confidence to undertake our future tasks, and it raised the opinion which the upperclassmen had of us.

As we watched the graduates receive their diplomas on Graduation Night, we knew that although the struggle would be long and the tasks arduous, we'd make it too.

Thus we ended our first year, with the hope that the year to come would be just as happy and as rich in achievements as our freshman year had been.

We began our second year with renewed vigor after our idle summer months, and with eagerness because we were no longer considered "the lowly ones."

We now thought we had experience enough to run the school single-handed and we began to think up new rules. But before anything disastrous resulted, we were kindly but firmly put in our place.

As time elapsed, we settled down to "brass tacks" and Sister's "Little Bears" became Sister's "Little Dears."

Studies became more difficult and therefore required a little more attention. But work was mingled with pleasure such as the parish outing, a number of parties and various school activities.

But best of all was the Children of Mary picnic at Canobie Lake in which we were allowed to participate, since our enrollment in the Sodality the previous year.

Excitement mounted as the year neared its completion, because our junior year activities would establish us as "leaders" not followers.

Our junior year presented a challenge to us—"Would we be able to fulfill our many obligations or not?" This question plagued our once peaceful minds. But as time went by, our initiative became more apparent, as we sponsored some of the dances and devised the silliest games ever thought of for our Halloween party.

English was our best-liked subject as we were reading the exciting and absorbing novel, "The House of The Seven Gables" by Nathaniel Hawthorne. And to top it off the juniors and seniors were invited on an outing to Salem to see this famous historical landmark.

We were very disappointed, however, when Sister told us that the story was fictional; but we had so much fun, going through the mysterious house and pic-nicking at Salem Willows that it became a minor detail.

Then we began planning for the seniors' Class Night, and although it was loads of fun, we were sad at the prospect of losing so many dear friends.

The seniors laughed uproariously at the Class Prophecy and the various other write-ups but cried unashamedly when we sang the "Farewell Song" and presented them with small tokens of our affection. All agreed it was the best Class Night ever.

The year ended on a note of sadness as the wonderful seniors departed and as we became more aware of the fact that our turn was yet to come.

Upon entering our last year of high school, we received the dignified and exalted title of "Seniors," and before long we realized what tremendous responsibilities went with it.

First came Initiation, which is always a delightful project to everyone except the timid freshmen. We gleefully prepared the horrible fate of the "doomed." On the appointed day lamentations and cries of anguish met our every command, but all submitted to the ordeal and fulfilled their obligations. In the afternoon a party was held in the school hall, where the Initiated were rewarded for their undaunted courage and bravery.

This year brought about some pleasant tasks, namely choosing a class ring, working on our yearbook, and having our sweet young faces photographed at Vantine's.

Choosing the class ring presented somewhat of a problem since the girls had their hearts set on one design and the boys on another. However, we compromised and all were satisfied.

The election of the yearbook staff was next on the list. Editor-in-chief, Jeannette Robichaud; Associate Editor, Robert Goulet; Literary Editor, Annette St. Pierre; Photographic Editor, Phyllis Doucet; Business Manager, Marie Benoit, and her assistants, Virginia Drolet and Charles Hart. With the cooperation of the whole high school we collected the ads and patrons necessary for this difficult and costly project. Without the help of Sisters Genevieve Alice and Celine Helena it would have been impossible even to think of beginning such an arduous task.

The days flew so fast we hardly had time to think about graduation which every day brought closer. Our days were filled with a mixture of study and social activities such as our first dance, which was a great success, and the Christmas Party at which Santa Claus presented gifts to the faculty and student body. Then followed a new event ever to become part of the social life at N.D.P.H., the Semi-Formal sponsored by the seniors, the music provided by "The Highlighters."

However, the most important affair of all was naturally, the Senior - Junior Prom. Didn't everyone look different in vari-colored gowns and smart tailored tuxedos! The music, the laughter and gaiety made it the most enjoyable evening of our young lives.

Religion, this year, took on more significance than ever. Our future vocations were thoroughly discussed and were tentatively chosen.

On Graduation Night, as we sat awaiting the sound of our names, we thought of all the happiness and sadness, the sorrows and the joys that we had experienced during the four memorable years at N.D.P. which were now things of the past.

As we said good-bye to our Alma Mater and each went his separate way, we stole one last glance and tried to capture in that look and imprint on our minds all the memories which we would always cherish in the years to come.

RELIGION

To bring Christ to the pupil and the pupil to Christ is the general aim of the religion courses at Our Lady of Pity High School. Here we see Sister Genevieve Alice instructing the seniors on the importance of the devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. The twelve great promises made by the Sacred Heart to Saint Margaret Mary were clearly and thoroughly explained to us and each of us solemnly pledged devotion and loyalty to the Sacred Heart as King of our hearts and of our homes.

ROSARY

The daily recitation of the Rosary brings us in closer contact with our Blessed Mother and is a powerful means of drawing numerous graces and blessings both upon ourselves and our families.

MISSION DAY

Philip Dodge, Captain of St. Theresa's Mission Team, take up his weekly collection, while Phyllis Doucet, Captain of the Blessed Chanel Team, counts the number of pagan babies ransomed thus far by the senior class.

RESEARCH

Doing a bit of research work during their study period are Mary C. Fahey, John Rexford, Annette St. Pierre, Robert Goulet, and Jeannette Robichaud.

LITERATURE

This group of studious seniors seem to be deeply engrossed in Shakespeare's MACBETH.

SHORTHAND

Mastering shorthand theory is our means of attaining a high speed.

FUTURE BUSINESSMEN AND WOMEN OF AMERICA

These students are famous for speed and accuracy, and what's more, they're always ready to help.

Dictation and transcription are a pleasure when these industrious commercial students are at work with their teacher, Sister Celine Helena.

TYPING

SPEED

BOOKKEEPING

Philip explains to Rita, Mary T., Natalie, and Annette the entries necessary when trading in a fixed asset.

OFFICE PRACTICE

Georgette, Owen, Annette, Charles, and Marie are really serious at their office practice period.

HISTORY

"World News" interests the American History Class.

ANNUAL OUTING TO SALEM

In October we visited the "House of the Seven Gables" and then enjoyed ourselves at Salem Willows with our Pastor, Father Charest, and our teachers.

Hail! Hail! The gang's all here!

Are those two girls in their right minds?

Watch the birdie!

Sister Celine Helena's "Little Bears."

Cheez it!!!

Sweet violets

Grr-r-r

FRESHMAN INITIATION

What's the matter?

It was our privilege as seniors to initiate the freshman class. On the appointed day, September 18, 1953, we had the freshman girls impersonate "Little Bo Peep" and the boys "Little Jack Horner."

Hurry, hurry!

Pastors - past and present.

Nice doggie !!!

OUR LADY OF PITY

In the afternoon of the same day, we had a party in the school hall, where games were enjoyed and refreshments were served. Everyone of the "initiated" proved to be real sports, and the whole student body returned home weary from fun and laughter.

Where's your face?

Why don't you believe me?

OUTSIDE THE CLASSROOM

Keep going, girls ...

All set for the broom dance?

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Class of 1954, of Our Lady of Pity High School, of the city of Cambridge, of the state of Massachusetts, on this sixth day of June, in the year of Our Lord, One Thousand Nine-Hundred and Fifty-Four, do hereby revoke and declare null and void any previous will by us made, and affirm the following to be our last will and testament.

FIRST:

To our Devoted Priests, we leave our sincere appreciation in helping us form the correct spiritual and mental outlook on life, and we will always remember them not only as our counselors but as our friends.

To the Good Sisters, we give our thanks for imparting to us the necessary knowledge to fulfill our chosen careers and for having molded our characters to His image and likeness.

To our Dear Parents, we give our undying gratitude for the opportunity they have given us to acquire a sound Christian education.

SECOND:

To the Juniors, we leave the spirit of leadership necessary to cope with all the obligations of Seniors, and the privilege of initiating the Freshmen who will enter N.D.P.H. in 1954.

To the Sophomore Boys, we leave the honor of sweeping the lower halls; to the Girls, our seats at the typewriters.

To the Freshmen, we leave the courage and stamina required to withstand the trials of the coming year.

THIRD; TO THE JUNIORS IN PARTICULAR:

Helen Marie Arnott leaves her exemplary conduct, her friendly smile, and her charcoal knee socks to Vincent Franceschini.

Marie Benoit bequeaths her green eyes to Ellen Lemieux, and her old piano pieces, her inquisitiveness and her spirit of cooperation to Alice Melanson.

Georgette Bergeron cedes her blue campus sweater and her love of sports to Helen Poirier.

Natalie Brooks wills her poise to Catherine Coughlin, and her size 9 shoes to Carole Daniels.

Elaine Canniff bestows her hearty laugh, her personality, and obliging ways to Elaine Brouillard.

Joan Coughlin leaves her slim stature and her long hair to Richard Galligan.

Phyllis Doucet wills her ability to extricate money to the treasurer of the Junior class, John Rigazio.

Virginia Drolet bequeaths her ambition to become a nurse and her old nylons to Francis Poirier.

Mary C. Fahey bestows her soft-spokenness and her small stature to Marilyn McHugh.

Mary T. Fahey cedes her job at Harvard, her long hair, and blue eyes to Ruth Gallant.

Rita Gervais wills her cheerful outlook on life, her sophisticated manners, and her long finger nails to Beatrice Hudson.

Jeannette Robichaud bequeaths her scholastic ability, her easy blush, and her size 7 ring finger to Louise Forest.

Lorraine Sevigny leaves her petite stature and her Italian bob to Margaret Cyr.

Annette St. Pierre wills her MARLON BRANDO photographs to Dorothy Chiasson, and her Julius Caesar album to Helen McDermott.

Doris Theriault leaves her sparkling dark eyes to Doris Desrosiers, and her musical talent to Richard Gaudet.

Jules Albert bequeaths his quiet ways and his taste for clothes to Yvonne Brochu.

Philip Dodge wills his happy disposition and his competence in handling and collecting money to Dorothy O'Connell.

Robert Goulet wills his blond wavy tresses, his courteous ways, his persuasiveness, and dignified appearance to Dorothy Benoit.

Charles Hart bequeaths his tall stature, his efficiency, and spirit of perseverance to Janet Bolduc.

Owen Johnson leaves his knowledge of jazz, his constant good humor, and sociability to Theresa Burgess.

John Rexford bequeaths his Don Juan personality and his black hair to Elizabeth Curran.

Douglas Sampson leaves his seriousness to Madeleine LaRoche, and his A in conduct to Carol Murphy.

Louis Sampson wills his modesty and his shy, reticent disposition to Jeannette Doiron.

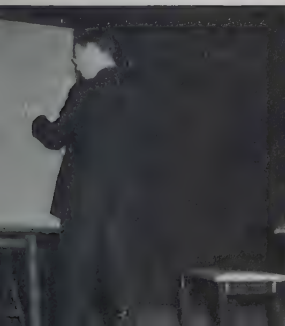

We hereby affix our seal to this legal document on the sixth day of June in the year of Our Lord, One Thousand Nine-Hundred and Fifty-Four.

PROPHECY

After scrubbing floors for a period of twenty years, Annette and I finally put away our mops and pails, for the unbelievable had happened--we had won the "French Sweepstakes!" With the money thus acquired, we decided to take a world tour. We hurriedly packed our only two housedresses along with our sneakers in our overnight bag and we were off!!!

As we boarded the S.S. Genevieve, the most modern and sleekest ship in design created by the world renowned John Rexford, we were immediately guided to our staterooms by someone who seemed very familiar and who turned out to be Doris Theriault, head stewardess of the ship. That night a banquet was held in our honor and we received a hearty welcome from the tall and powerfully built captain, Mary C. Fahey. After an enjoyable week on the high seas, we docked in London. The customs inspector looked wonderingly at our skimpy belongings, but we gazed even more wonderingly at him, for he was none other than Robert Goulet.

While touring London we met a poor, old, haggard wretch begging for shillings enough to buy some tea. When we realized that it was our former classmate, Phyllis Doucet, we gave her sufficient money to keep her supplied for a year. During one of our visits to their many charity institutions, we found among the patients Marie Benoit, who had worked herself to death in her worthy profession as a social worker.

The gloom of London made us seek gayer surroundings. We left that night for Paris, France. While there we attended a fashion show and Natalie fell in love with a white mink cape. She was too wrapped up in its beauty to notice the model, the famous Georgette Bergeron. In order to show off our new wardrobe of Paris creation, we decided to go to the Moulin Vert. The spotlight fell on their foremost entertainer Jeannette Robichaud and her trained chinchillas performing the most stupendous feats of acrobatics.

A plane trip to Dark Africa was next on the agenda. We were eager to see the customs and dances of the many tribes. The most amazing spectacle met our eyes! The Water Glub Glub Tribe and their Chief, Drinking Glass, Charles Hart, were performing a dance in tribute to the White Witch Doctor, Helen Marie Arnott, and her accomplice in crime, Rita Gervais.

Hacking our way through the jungle, we came upon a small encampment. There we came across Douglas and Louis Sampson, who had been prospecting for gold for the past twenty years and as yet had not met with success.

Now on to Singapore, that mysterious city of intrigue! As we passed one of the royal gardens, we noticed Virginia Drolet ballet dancing for sight-seers like ourselves, but since we had no time to stop, we just waved hello and went merrily on our way.

Since we had so little time left, we decided to visit Ireland. We had heard in the states that two of our classmates were in a cloistered order there. We received permission from their Mother Superior, Mary T. Fahey, to visit Sisters Elaine Canniff and Joan Coughlin. They were in the process of painting the convent, but the sight of their spattered habits made us wonder what was being painted--the habit or the convent!!!

Our last day was spent in Italy. We had the intention of sampling some of their homemade wine, so we went to a vineyard and there we saw Lorraine Sevigny squishing grapes with her toes. We lost our thirst for wine immediately!!!

One of the colorful street venders beckoned to us, as we walked down the cobblestone streets, and as we approached him, we saw that it was Owen Johnson. He was selling pickled spaghetti and pizza and since he was a former student of N.D.P. he gave us some for nothing.

But as all good things come to an end, so the time had come for us to leave all these fascinating foreign countries. Adventure was still in store for us, however, for on the flight home a stowaway was discovered on the plane and he had to parachute out. We almost fainted when we found it to be Philip Dodge. We might have known--he was still up to his old tricks even after all these years.

Our hearts sank down to our boots as we stepped on our native soil for we knew that we would soon have to go back to work and face our despotic boss, Jules Albert. But we knew we'd have the courage to go on because all these memories would lighten our hearts whenever we would ponder over them.
